Amazon Hope Programme, Peru

Introducing Vine Trust

Connecting people. Changing lives.

Vine Trust is an international development charity. We aim to empower communities, connecting in-country partners and local people to create significant, sustainable development for vulnerable children and families. A particular focus of the work is given to engaging and collaborating with village communities to build capacity and local response to health needs and challenges.

As part of this work, we connect and involve volunteers with these long-term partnerships to create significant and sustainable development for vulnerable communities.

Our Medical Programmes

There are many isolated parts of the world where high rates of morbidity could easily be combated by some basic but regular medical attention and accompanying health education.

In response to this need and in cooperation with local partners, Vine Trust supports the development of primary health care services to some of the most vulnerable communities in the world.

Medical Ships

A significant part of this work is done through the use of medical ships, which are a unique and innovative approach to providing an itinerant health care service to isolated communities.

Taking into account that many remote communities cannot travel to the nearest hospitals or clinics due to distance, financial or climatic factors, the ship provides a safe and hygienic facility which can easily be accessed by patients throughout the year as well as a secure environment for the team of health professionals.

Partnerships

A particular focus of the work is given to engaging and collaborating with village communities to build capacity and local response to health needs and challenges.

As part of this work, we connect and involve volunteers with these long-term partnerships to create significant and sustainable development for vulnerable communities.

All Vine Trust ships are specifically equipped with medical consultation areas, dental clinic, minor surgery room, pharmacy, laboratory and all instruments and equipment necessary to provide a quality service in primary health care. The use of a ship also ensures that all staff are able to work and be accommodated in a secure environment, allowing the participation of a sizeable team of health professionals from a variety of medical specialities to join the regular expeditions.

“A unique and innovative approach to providing an itinerant health care service”

Amazon Hope Programme

In the Loreto region of Peru, isolated Amazonian communities live with little or no access to vital healthcare.

The Amazon Hope Medical Programme was launched in 2002. It now reaches communities in six river basins, providing 200,000 consultations per year.

The programme works extensively with the Regional Government and Ministry of Health, and collaborates closely in the development of the services with village residents and remote health post personnel.

As well as a wide range of primary health care services, the programme is also actively involved in public health initiatives, with education and promotion focusing on a variety of themes including dental health, safe water and alcohol abuse.

The programme currently consists of two vessels, Amazon Hope 2 and Forth Hope which operate simultaneously on different river systems.

As well as the ship's crew there is a full team of permanent Peruvian medical team on board the ship. We offer the opportunity for volunteers with suitable skills to join the ships on one of their 40 expeditions a year and work alongside the national team. We offer a bilateral learning experience to all our volunteers with an opportunity to exchange skills and learn about health care in a remote setting.

Who Can Apply?

Vine Trust has welcomed volunteers from 15 different countries! You can work alongside our permanent Peruvian medical team if you are:

- A doctor (most commonly GPs)
- A dentist
- A nurse/nurse practitioner/midwife
- A pharmacist

The ship provides predominately primary healthcare and therefore those with specialities outwith this remit must have prior experience within primary health care. We also welcome those with a variety of experience to provide training and capacity building to our national team on a case by case basis.

Please note that all healthcare professionals must be registered with the appropriate body (GMC, NMC, GDC or non-UK equivalents). Due to our partnership with the Ministry of Health in Peru we will need to provide them with evidence of this registration well in advance of your time with the programme.

Electives

We accept a limited number of applications from nursing, dental and medical students for each expedition. We offer the opportunity to conduct a 2 or 4-week elective on board the ship with the supervision of the national team and head of medical services. In order to provide adequate supervision spaces for students are limited to 2 per expedition.

Please note that due to the nature of the work we cannot guarantee a 'tick-list' of procedures or cases but we do offer the opportunity to work alongside the national team, working towards autonomy. Students can benefit from having a basic level of Spanish. Vine Trust requires a letter of confirmation from your university and the contact details of your elective supervisor in order to confirm your place.

Pre Trip Training

All applicants must attend a mandatory training session (online options available for those outside of the UK) prior to their time with the programme. Training will cover cultural competency, working with the Amazon Hope programme and expedition logistics. A clinical handbook is also provided and must be thoroughly read prior to departure. A full clinical and safety orientation will be undergone on the first day on board the vessel and is conducted by the national team.

“Connecting the Programme with overseas volunteers provides significant bilateral capacity building opportunities “

Clinical Work

The Amazon Hope programme is a primary healthcare service and so you will be dealing with many of the same conditions which you see in your own working environment. In particular, the most common conditions are:

- Respiratory
- Intestinal
- Anaemia
- Dehydration
- Fevers
- Skin conditions/infections

You may also be required to manage tropical disease such as malaria and dengue, but you will always have the support of your Peruvian colleagues with this.

The pharmacy is stocked in line with Peruvian ministry of Health guidelines and will include routine antibiotics, analgesics, NSAIDs, preps for eye/ear infections, PPIs, some dermatological preps and dressings and there is some suture material. An up-to-date formulary will be issued during the first team meeting on the ship.

Sample Itinerary

Please note the itinerary below is presented to give an indication of each day on the trip. The actual itinerary will vary depending on local factors.

- Day 1 (Leave UK in the morning) Arrive in Lima later same day.
Some people may choose to arrive earlier (tourist activities). The team will gather and stay in a Lima hotel overnight. (Name & address of hotel will be advised).
- Day 2 Fly to Iquitos. There will be the opportunity to explore Iquitos under the guidance of a PMEAP team member
- Day 3 Day in Iquitos or Nauta or Requena
- Days 4–12 Join Amazon Hope– first thing in the morning. Work alongside Peruvian healthcare professionals aboard Amazon Hope serving isolated river communities.
- Day 13 Leave Ship and travel back to Iquitos (Stay overnight in Iquitos).
- Day 14 Fly back to Lima. We would anticipate arrival back in Lima by early / mid-afternoon. In some cases this would allow people to start their journey home or to start any tourist activities arranged. Otherwise stay overnight in Lima.
- Day 15 Leave Lima – travel home or start tourist activities.
- Day 16 Arrive in the UK
